

BOSTON MORNING POST.

PUBLISHED DAILY, AT NO. 21 WATER STREET, BY BEALS & GREENE.—CHARLES GORDON GREENE EDITOR.

VOLUME XII. NO. 150.

FRIDAY MORNING, MAY 26, 1837.

PRICE $6 PER ANN. IN ADVANCE

TO FISHING AND PLEASURE PARTIES.

THE subscriber would respectfully inform his friends and the public that he has put his sailing pleasure boat TREMONT in complete repair, and is ready to attend upon those who may favor him with their patronage. The Tremont is a first rate boat (about 15 tons), and was built expressly for the purpose of accommodating fishing and pleasure parties, and will accommodate from 20 to 30 persons. The subscriber has likewise a number of smaller boats, and will accommodate those who do not wish for so large a boat. No pains will be spared to supply his boats with all necessary conveniences, and he respectfully solicits a continuance of that public favor which has been bestowed upon him in former seasons. The boats can be had at short notice, by leaving orders at BENJ. F. MAHAN'S, No 71 Long wharf, where they can be furnished with stores, lines, cooking apparatus, &c.

ANTONIO DOMINGO. my20

COUNTRY SEAT FOR SALE.

A very desirable and healthy situation in Dorchester.

On the upper road leading to Milton, about a quarter of a mile this side of Dr Codman's Meeting house, and about 4 1/2 miles from City Hall, consisting of a well built two story house, stables, &c, with all the usual conveniences for a gentleman's residence. The house commands an extensive view of the harbor and surrounding country, and is considered to be one of the most pleasantly situated houses in the vicinity of Boston. The premises contain about one and a half acre of land, laid out in a garden with gravelled walks, &c, and stocked with about 150 trees of the most esteemed varieties of fruit, including a large quantity of apples, peaches, plums, cherries, &c, and an abundance of grapes of the most hardy kinds. Any person wishing for a permanent residence in the country, the above offers many advantages, as it fronts the south, and has the sun in winter from the rising until setting. The water is pure, and the soil is fertile, and the possession of the property is a great advantage. The principal part of the purchase money may remain on mortgage, if desired. For further particulars inquire of E. E. DYER, 88 Washington street.

PARIS MADE STOCKS.—A rich article, ing the consequences of our own folly. We must confess that it is our opinion the public should be made better acquainted with the nature of our complaints, before they are called upon to apply a remedy. At any rate, no appeal should be made—no speeches delivered, calculated to arouse the angry passions of the multitude. There is as much prosperity and wealth in the country now as there ever was. The only thing necessary is to give it proper direction. This can be done only by prudence and increased confidence in ourselves."

MR. WEBSTER'S CONSISTENCY.

Mr Webster, in his late speech at Wheeling, (Va.) imputes the blame of the present state of our public and private finances to the government, for two opposite reasons. The first is, that the government did NOT tamper with the currency, but, on the contrary, "parted voluntarily, and by advice, with all control over it."

"I will not say that other causes, at home and abroad, have not had an agency in bringing about the present derangement. I know that credits have been used beyond all former example, that it is probable the spirit of trade has been too highly excited, that the pursuit of business may have been pressed too fast and too far. All this I am ready to admit. But instead of doing anything to abate this tendency, our government has been the prime instigator of fostering and encouraging it. It has parted voluntarily, and by advice, with all control over the actual currency of the country. It has given a free and full scope to the spirit of banking; it has aided the spirit of speculation with the public treasures, and it has done all this, in the midst of loud sounding promises of an exclusive specie medium, and a professed detestation of all banking institutions."

The second is, that government DID tamper with the currency.

"No doubt but we shall hear every cause but the true ones, assigned for the present distress. It will be laid to the opposition in and out of Congress, it will be laid to the bank, it will be laid to the merchants, it will be laid to the manufacturers, it will be laid to the tariff, it will be laid to the North Star, or to the malign influence of the last comet, whose tail swept near or across the orbit of our earth, before we shall be allowed ascribe it to its just, main causes, a tampering with the currency and an attempt to stretch Executive power over a subject not constitutionally within its reach."

The remedy for this state of things is, according to Mr Webster, to tamper with the currency at the next session of Congress. In his New York speech, it will be remembered, he said that the administration ought to leave the government of the country in the hands of CONGRESS, where the Constitution had placed it! Congress, it is well known, has power to regulate the value of coins, and to coin money; but it must also, according to Mr Webster "TAMPER WITH" credit and currency, instead of making the laws necessary to effect the objects which are entrusted to it. Mr W. says:

"I will not say, the only remedy is a National Bank; but I will say, that in my opinion, the only sure remedy for the evils that now prey upon us, is the assumption, by the delegates of the people in the national government, of some lawful control over the finances of the nation, and a power of regulating its currency."

The assertion, in the first of the above extracts, that the government has done nothing to abate the tendency to overtrading, is no notorious an untruth to need refutation. Every body knows that Gen. Jackson was blamed for trying to abate this tendency; and it was asked by Nicholas Biddle, in his letter attacking the Specie Circular, what right the government had to prevent extravagant sales of lands, any more than overtrading in broadcloth. The answer was, that the lands were public property; and the credit sales deprived the public of its property, while nothing but unavailable funds would be received for it, if the specie circular had not been issued.

It remains to be seen, whether Congress will assume the power of restraining credit by monopoly, or whether it will leave off "TAMPERING WITH THE CURRENCY."

☞ The story published in the Atlas about seventeen families in Lynn going to the Poor House in one day, proves to be entirely false. The Lynn Record says—

"One of the Overseers of the poor has called upon and informed us, that no person in this town has been sent to the Work House or Poor House within the last three months, and only one person has applied for admission, and that one belonged to Salem, and was directed thither for aid. Can any other town of ten thousand inhabitants say as much?"

☞ There is but one voice from the Democratic Press—"Uncompromising hostility to an United States Bank."

☞ At a public meeting called in Washington City, a Resolution requesting the city government to issue small bills, alias shin-plasters, was voted down, and one requesting the Banks to redeem their five dollar notes and all under with specie, adopted by an immense majority.

The New York Star thinks it unfortunate that those who have no property should be allowed to vote! Those who own no houses nor land! The Major used to be a democrat, but his conduct proves that "one renegade is worse than ten Turks," for many of the most violent of the aristocracy would be ashamed to utter what he unblushingly proclaims.

☞ The Hon. Adam Huntsman has declined a canvass for re-election in Tennessee; it is said Mr Crockett is in the field in that district. Son of Davy.

Ohio.—It is rumored that Gov. VANCE contemplates convening the Legislature shortly for the purpose of devising means to procure funds for the prosecution of the public works;—the Board of Public Works having failed in effecting any arrangement.

The New York Painbreakers are reaping a great harvest in New York. They should be closely watched.

☞ The New York whigs are turning every democrat out of office they can lay their hands on. Forty-five lamp lighters were ousted on Saturday night. A short time before they voted a dead man out of office! They were told that the man was dead, and were begged for the sake of his wife's and family's feelings not to pass the unnecessary vote declaring his removal; but all to no purpose—a victim was wanted, and dead or alive it must be had—the widow's tears and the orphan's supplications had no influence, and the vote was carried!

☞ Mr Webster says that government promised an exclusive specie medium—this is incorrect. The government wished for a broader specie basis, but never promised an exclusive specie medium. Mr Benton, one of the foremost friends of the government, said—"I am for the French currency; no bank note under 500 francs, near $100; and my labors have been directed to produce that result."

☞ It is a curious coincidence that the stoppage of specie payments should have been so nearly simultaneous throughout the country, and that leading whigs should have been urging the expediency of it at about the same time in all quarters. Mr Hamilton in New York, Mr Bell in Nashville, and the whig papers in New Orleans! But the whig rejoicing at the event is still more remarkable, unless they consider it a party triumph to have brought it about.

☞ The last Globe received has a strong article on the proceeding of the ten cent rebellion which we shall copy to-morrow.

A writer in Blackwoods' Edinburgh Magazine remarks that the Republicans are prodigiously fond of princesses on that side of the Atlantic.

BY THE STEAMBOAT MAIL OF THURSDAY.

U. S. Bank Stock sold in New York on Wednesday for 106—Providence 100—Worcester 91. The Post says—

Stocks are still lower, notwithstanding money is more plenty.

The Commercial Advertiser says money can be had at 7 per cent. in abundance. We learn from an authentic source, that the story circulating to the Evening Star of this city, respecting a projected draft of Gen. Jackson's is a fabrication from beginning to end—there is no truth in any part of the statement. The General is neither bankrupt nor likely to become so—he is under no engagements whatever for friends, and is perfectly unharmed by the prevailing embarrasment.

The Cincinnati Banks are reported to have suspended specie payments.

The corporation of the First Municipality of New Orleans, intend to issue notes to the amount of half a million of dollars.

The American further observes: There is not one bank in the city paying specie for all legal demands against it. This should be distinctly understood.

Money Changers.—A New Orleans paper says, that the presidents of some of the city banks were seated in the market place with bags of dollars before them, changing five dollar bills. The same paper suggests, that these publicans should get an edict passed in their favor by the legislature, and have stalls built for them at the upper end of the meat market.

The New Orleans Market manifests an improvement.

Ludicrous attempt at Suicide.—A man in New Orleans lately, while walking the streets, pulled a roll of bank notes out of his pocket, and looking at them, exclaimed, "Poor trash, for I have toiled day and night, for many a weary month! I had fondly hoped that you might be of some use to me in my old age, and I have treasured you as my heart's blood; but you are false and worthless. Like your makers, your promises are hollow, and your worth fictitious! I'll have no more of you!"

He folded them up deliberately, and thrust them in his coat pocket. He then took off his hat, and laid it down; he pulled off his coat, folded it up and laid it on his hat. Piece by piece, he divested himself of his clothing, and stood in all the glory of nature—a man without a shirt. He took a hasty glance at surrounding objects, and started for the Mississippi at the top of his speed. Some persons who had watched his movements gave pursuit; but their exertions would have been vain, and he a gone case, had he not stumbled and fallen prostrate into a pond of water at the crossing of Dorsey street. Unable to escape, and convinced of the disagreeable effects of muddy water, he permitted himself to be led back. He quietly redressed himself, and departed.

From Florida.—By a ship from the Norfolk Beacon, of the 20th inst., we have accounts from Tampa Bay to the 7th. The troops were in good condition, also the friendly Indians. Information from Jacksonville to the 16th, encourages the hope that the Indian difficulties are fast coming to an end.

Adjourned Great Philadelphia Meeting.—The meeting to hear the report of the Committee of the citizens of Philadelphia, was held in that city, in Independence Square, on Monday forenoon. The meeting is represented to have been much less numerous than the previous one the week before, a circumstance which the American Sentinel thinks may have arisen from the inconvenient hour appointed. The United States Gazette says:—

"The committee read a letter from the delegates appointed on the part of the banks, assigning their reasons for not complying with the proposal to pay specie for the denomination of $5; one of which we understand to be, that such a measure would induce the holders of the larger notes to get them exchanged for fives, and in this way draw out the silver, which, instead of getting into circulation, would be hoarded up or disposed of at a premium to brokers, by which means the gold and silver would not only be kept out of circulation, but be actually forced out of the city."

The meeting was addressed by the chairman, Mr. Thompson, by Mr. Penniman R. M. Lee, and others. The meeting were assured, in positive terms, by the latter speaker, that the whole cause of all the embarrasment and distress under which the community is now suffering, is to be attributed solely to excessive banking capital and bank issues. This sentiment was warmly approved by a portion of the meeting.

At twelve, precisely, the meeting adjourned. The good order and quietness which we had occasion to applaud at the first meeting, was fully sustained yesterday, although the resolutions bear quite a different aspect, one or two of them in particular."

☞ We perceive that the Courier has published a notice respecting newspaper thieves, and the receivers of their stolen property, similar to the one in the Post. U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.

[Thursday, May 25th—Present, Judges STORY and DAVIS.]

Excessive and Long-Continued Punishment of an Offending Seaman.—The indictment alleges, that while lying in the harbor of—him, Capt. ORIS TAYLOR, with force and arms, an assault did make, and from malice, hatred, or revenge, and without justifiable cause, did beat and wound one JOHN WILLSON, and then and there being one of the crew of the Maria Theresa, a brig owned by Mark Healy, of Boston. The indictment is the first under a recent Act of Congress, for the prevention of cruelty to seamen. [See Stat., March 5d, 1835, ch. 40, sec. 3, afflicting the "infliction of cruel and unusual punishments," and afflicting the penalty of a fine not exceeding $1000, or imprisonment, not exceeding five years; and also both a fine and imprisonment, according to the discretion of the Court.]

COUNSEL—for the Government, Hon. JOHN MILLS—for the Prisoner, B. RAND and A. H. PISK, Esqrs.

Having explained the law and the nature of the offence charged against Capt. Taylor, followed by an outline of the facts, Mr. Mills commenced the examination of witnesses in support of the indictment by calling to the stand—

John Roberts—the second mate of the Maria Theresa—after stating that Willson (now dead) had been ashore, and got drunk with some of the crew of the Sloop of War Peacock, and after his return to the brig behaving in a very refractory manner, and finally leaving the ship in a boat, contrary to the express and repeated orders of the chief mate (Captain Taylor) being then on board of the Peacock—Roberts further testified, verbatim, as follows:—

"About a fortnight after Willson deserted, Capt. Taylor received information that he was up at the Prince's Palace, and the captain and I went shore to bring him off. We found him there and he made no objection to coming with us. As we were coming down, Willson asked Capt. Taylor not to flag him. Capt. T. replied 'You son-of-a-b—, I'll flag you, if it costs me my life. I'll cut every bit of flesh off your back.' Willson then said, 'If you don't flag me, I'll go all the rest of the voyage for nothing. I will not require one cent when I get to Boston.' Capt. T. again answered 'I will flag you; and by G—d, I'll flag any man who takes you part.' When we got on board, the captain ordered Willson to be taken off, and had him seized up on the deck, and commenced punishing him with a cane. He had willow tails, made of large codline. Willson had on a thin calico shirt, and again said 'Captain, don't flag me.' The captain said 'I'll flag you, G—d—n you, You son-of-a-b—, I'll cut you in two, if I am able.' He struck Willson several times, and the pain made him draw his legs up on the wall. The captain then ordered the chief mate and me to lay willow tails, made of large codline. Willson had on a thin calico shirt, and again said 'Captain, don't flag me.' The captain said 'I'll flag you, G—d—n you, You son-of-a-b—, I'll cut you in two, if I am able.' He struck Willson several times, and the pain made him draw his legs up on the wall. The captain then ordered the chief mate and me to lay willow tails, made of large codline. Willson had on a thin calico shirt, and again said 'Captain, don't flag me.' The captain said 'I'll flag you, G—d—n you, You son-of-a-b—, I'll cut you in two, if I am able.' He struck Willson several times, and the pain made him draw his legs up on the wall. The captain then ordered the chief mate and me to lay willow tails, made of large codline.
